

Should your partner ever fall seriously ill,
wouldn't you be glad of some extra support?

If you or your partner suffers a serious illness, the chances are you'll survive. But that doesn't mean your lives will be left unaffected. As well as losing a breadwinner for a while, you might even need to pay for help around the house.

Until it actually happens, it's easy to underestimate the financial impact. But with the Flexible Protection Plan, if you or your partner ever has an illness that is covered by the plan, and meets our definition, you may have something to fall back on.

The Flexible Protection Plan is a regular premium protection plan available on a fixed-term basis and there is no cash-in value at any time. The plan must include Life Cover or Serious Illness Cover. Optional Serious Illness Cover for Children, Disability Cover and Minimum Protected Account can also be included. Subject to full terms and conditions, these are available on request and exclusions may apply.

Give us a call. And let us help protect you both from the full hardship of serious illness.
